The LU Diplomats

This group seeks to work with the Office of Undergraduate Admissions to recruit international admissions as well as promote connections between international students and non-international students throughout campus. The LU Diplomats Club is divided into four different committees to carry out this process: the Skype interview and Tour Guide committee, Recruitment, Outreach, and Public Relations. The club seeks to help diminish culture shock, facilitate integration, and connect older students with younger international students. The LU Diplomats complete over 200 interviews throughout the year. The LU Diplomats host bi-weekly meetings and have held several events including recruitment dinners and speakers' series. The LU Diplomats hope to gain a bigger presence on campus with Student Senate approval.

The Middle Eastern Student Union

The Middle Eastern Student Union aims to represent the Middle Eastern culture on campus by allowing students to show their pride on campus. The club plans to meet biweekly and has already hosted an Arabic Culture night, Lebanese cuisine night, and Dabke night. In the future the group hopes to collaborate with other multi-cultural groups on campus to make Lehigh more diverse. In the future, the Middle Eastern Student Union hopes to host a Chai Hour, movie nights, and Middle Eastern Cuisine night.

The Lehigh University Beekeeping Club (BKC)

The Lehigh University Beekeeping Club has made a lot of progress in the past couple of years. The club started off with ten members and has now gained approximately 60 active members. The club is active throughout the year and hosts events such as a Rosh Hashanah Celebration, hive and box building workshops, educational meetings with the Lehigh Valley Beekeeping Association. Since the hives open next month, the club is excited to bring the new members up to see the hives. The club meets bi-weekly and plans to check on the hives every week. Prior to entry, club members will have two practice sessions and listen to a bee biology lecture given by their advisor. Overall, the club hopes to connect with more groups on campus, network at the sustainability conference, and have a smooth leadership transition. A fun fact about the club is that they produced about 40 pounds of honey last year.

The Lehigh University Esports Association

The Esports Association seeks to combine different online competitive gaming sports into one club. This club aims to host viewing parties, host in-house tournaments, provide mentoring sessions for new players, and form teams to compete in intercollegiate tournaments. Currently, the club has about fifty interested members and over half are freshman or sophomores. Currently the club runs Super Smash Bro tournaments at Lehigh and hosts weekly tournaments every Saturday. The club hopes to use Student Senate recognition to be able to rent rooms to host their competitions and viewing parties as well as use the budget to buy resources that can be shared with all club members.
